Seoul International Women's Association (SIWA) hosted an international community fundraiser to celebrate its 60th anniversary at Total Museum from September 24th-25th in collaboration with Jongro-gu and Jamunbak Cultural Forum and supported by select foreign embassies, local businesses, and volunteer performers. SIWA aims to build community cohesion by strengthening a link between local and international communities to create a positive impact through philanthropy, volunteerism, and promoting environmental sustainability.

100% of the net proceeds went towards Soyang Rainbow Children's Home and Open Arms Korea to expand their personalized educational programs benefitting Korea's orphaned and abandoned youth. Through the united and strong community support, SIWA hopes to empower disadvantaged youth to realize their self-worth and reach their potential socially, emotionally, and academically.
